PARIS, BOURBON COUNTY, KENTUCKY, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 1, 1920

REGISTER TUESDAY AND "KEEP KENTUCKY WHITE"

Registration has been named for Tuesday, October 5, when all voters in Paris must register, in order to vote at the November election, and in the primary election in August, 1921. Voters in the county precincts will not be required to register.

The recently enfranchised women should realize the serious responsibility of the right of suffrage and exercise their new prerogative. But in order to vote in the November election it is absolutely necessary for them to register on Tuesday, October 5.

Those who do not register not only lose the right to vote in the November election for the Presidential candidates, but they lose their suffrage for a year on all elections. Therefore, everybody, men and women, should not fail to register Tuesday, October 5.

INJURED BY AUTO.

While sitting on the pavement near the Citizens' Garage, on lower Main street, John Lawson, an aged citizen of Paris, was struck by an automobile which was backing in order to turn around. He was not thought at first to have been seriously injured, but after being picked up and placed in a chair, he collapsed, and was taken to his home. Physicians who made a careful examination said Lawson probably sustained internal injuries which may result fatally. No blame is attached to the chauffeur of the machine, who did not see Lawson at the time of the accident.

HERE'S SOME ENCOURAGING NEWS, SURE!

A. R. Erskine, president of the Studebaker corporation, automobile manufacturers, announced Tuesday a cut of from $125 to $200 in all models of cars manufactured by his concern. The cut becomes effective immediately, he said. Wages will not be reduced, Mr. Erskine said. He explained the cut was made possible because of a recent decline in materials used in the manufacture of automobiles.

Watch the next issue of THE NEWS for the Gibson Motor Co.'s display ad giving complete list of reductions.

REAL ESTATE TRANSACTIONS

The real estate firm of Harris, Speakes & Harris, sold Wednesday to John Harding, of Berry, Harrison county, and W. B. Blackburn, of Taylorsville, the Charles Barnett farm in Spencer county for $106 an acre. The farm is one of the best bodies of land in Spencer county.

DEMOCRATIC CAMPAIGN FUNDS.

Committees will be appointed by the Bourbon County Democratic Campaign Committee to raise funds to help finance the Presidential campaign in the city, county, State and nation. Every Democrat in the county will be asked to contribute according to his means, from $1.00 on up. An appeal for funds has been sent out from the National Democratic headquarters to this effect. The appeal states that the committee is almost without funds. They have no desire or expectation of matching millions with the opposition, but they must have money with which to carry the message of the Democratic cause to the voters. Contributions may be left at THE NEWS office. They will be properly acknowledged and forwarded to the National Headquarters. In 1916 more than 100,000 persons gave financial aid in presenting the Democratic cause successfully to the voters. If an equal number help this year, the message will go to all the people, and success will be assured.

ORPHAN BRIGADE HERE IN ANNUAL REUNION

Rowed with the weight of years, but full of the old martial spirit that in a large degree characterized their achievements in the days of the struggle between the States, a handful of veterans, members of the famous old Orphan Brigade of the Confederacy, braved the cold weather and lowering skies to meet their comrades in the annual reunion in this city. The veterans began arriving Wednesday, though their numbers were few as compared to the reunion held here in 1892. Others arrived yesterday. They were met by a reception committee, composed of representative citizens of Paris, and escorted to the court house, where they were registered, and assigned to the homes of Paris people and to the Y. M. C. A. and other places for entertainment.

The Louisville delegation, accompanied by the Boys Band from the Louisville Industrial Home, arrived Wednesday afternoon. The band paraded Main street and gave a concert in front of the court house. The band is a musical organization of great merit, composed for the most part of young boys. From the business houses and public places floated the emblem of the Confederacy, the Stars and Bars, entwined with the Union, showing there was no longer North, or South, but a reunited country. Many residences in the city were tastefully decorated in honor of the visit of the Orphans.

The program proper for the reunion began at eleven o'clock yesterday morning, when the Orphans gathered at the court house, where they were greeted in an eloquent address of welcome by County Judge George Batterton. Mrs. J. T. Vansant followed Judge Batterton in welcoming address on behalf of the Richard Hawes Chapter. Daughters of the Confederacy, of Paris, and was followed by Rev. W. E. Ellis, pastor of the Paris Christian church, who welcomed the veterans on behalf of the city of Paris. At the conclusion of the exercises the veterans, accompanied by the Boys' Band, members of the local United Confederate Veterans, the Daughters of the Confederacy, and invited guests, adjourned to the Masonic Temple, where a repast of good things was served. Toasts were made and responded to by members of the Orphan Brigade, and others. The afternoon was spent by the veterans in social converse and retelling the stirring events of the great conflict in which they bore a prominent part. Last night a brilliant and largely-attended reception was given in honor of the Orphans and the Confederate soldiers of the county, in the Masonic Temple. The event was featured by music by the Boys' Band, and the presence of gallant men and beautiful women, who vied with each other in doing the honors for the veterans. The hours of the reception were otherwise spent by the veterans in social ways with their friends and hosts.

To-day the Orphans will be guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ben F. Buckner, at the Xalapa Farm of Edward F. Simms, near Paris, Bourbon county's show place. A barbecue of the old-fashioned kind will feature their stay at the farm, which they will inspect during the hours following the social festivities. In the afternoon they will be addressed by Hon. Emmett M. Dickson, of the Paris bar, who had been invited by a special invitation from the Orphan Brigade some time ago, to make the principal address at this gathering. Lieut. Lot D. Young, one of the two Bourbon county survivors of the Orphan Brigade, will also address the veterans. At the conclusion of the exercises the guests will return to Paris, and will depart for their homes.

Gen. W. B. Haldeman, of Louisville, who had expected to attend the reunion, was unable to come, being detained by illness. A telegram from Mrs. Haldeman to that effect was received Wednesday. Messages of regret were received from a number of comrades who were unavoidably detained by business reasons or by illness.

On Sept. 30, 1892, twenty-eight years ago, the surviving members of the Orphan Brigade, some two hundred in number, met in annual reunion in this city, the principal exercises taking place on the old Fair Grounds, in the presence of a crowd variously estimated at from three to four thousand. The weather was ideal for the occasion, being bright and warm. The veterans were received and greeted with every evidence of warm friendship and cordiality, and the city was practically turned over to them during their stay. The city was a mass of bunting, U. S. and Confederate flags entwined, and other decorations.

As they arrived in the city from various sections of the State they were met and taken in charge by a reception committee. All formed in line, headed by the State College Military Band, from Lexington, and the Lytle Drum and Bugle Corps, from Cincinnati, marched to the Fair Grounds. There they were greeted in an address of welcome by Mayor William P. Chambers. Col. William Clark, of Nashville, Tennessee, responded in a feling address in behalf of the Orphans Music and reading the roll-call of veterans who had died during the year made up the order of program. After this the veterans and invited guests marched to the Floral Hall, where a bounteous dinner was served by the ladies of the city and the county. After the dining, speeches were made by U. S. REMARKABLE ESCAPE FROM INSTANT DEATH

A number of members of Bourbon Council, Junior Order United American Mechanics, who recently took part in a pilgrimage to Tiffin, Ohio, to visit the Orphan's Home of that order, tell of a peculiar incident that happened on their trip. The special train on which they were traveling, while crossing a bridge over the Little Miami river, struck a handcar on the track in the center of the bridge. The car was thrown into the river, but its lone occupant was thrown feet foremost into a barrel of water kept on the bridge in case of fire, and was not injured. None of the passengers on the train were injured, but were considerably shaken up by the sudden stopping of the train when the air brakes were applied.

Lieut. Lot D. Young and Capt. James McDonald are the sole Bourbon county survivors of the Orphan Brigade. Capt. McDonald is now a resident outside the State. Some amusing incidents happened when the comrades long separated greeted each other. Two of the "boys in grey" met in front of THE NEWS office. One was very enthusiastic in his greeting. After salutations had been exchanged and a short talk indulged in one asked the other, "Say, Comrade, where is your uniform?" "Why, you old Johnnie Reb," replied the other, "I wore it out during the days of '61, and haven't had one since."

COX LEADS ON STRAW VOTE

Where Kentucky will lodge in electoral college in November is being clearly indicated by the straw vote taken throughout the State by the Rexall drug stores. The returns show Cox leading by a margin of two to one. The first week's balloting gave Governor Cox 1,760 against 877 for Harding. Of this number the male voters cast 1,409 for Cox, 723 for Harding, while the women gave Cox 359 and Harding 154. These figures indicate that the women voters are more decidedly for the Democratic ticket than the men.

FIRST WOMAN NATURALIZED WILL VOTE FOR COX

Mrs. Harriet P. Minaker, Visiting Nurse for the Bourbon County Health and Welfare League, is given the unique distinction of being the first woman to be naturalized in the new Eastern Kentucky Federal Court District, of which she is proud.

Mrs. Minaker is by birth a Canadian. She came to Paris several years ago to assume the duties of visiting nurse, in which she has proved capable and efficient. Her name has become a household word among the sick, the destitute and the homeless, and wherever her ministrations have gone there she has left with the blessings of those she has served.

In season and out of season, in fair weather and foul, she has given herself unselfishly and ardently to the task of relieving suffering among those unfortunate who had not the means of providing for themselves, and no one knows the extent of the good she has done among the poor of Paris.

Mrs. Minaker is a great admirer of Gov. James M. Cox, the Democratic nominee for President. Shortly after receiving the papers which granted her full rights of American citizenship, Mrs. Minaker stated that her first vote in the exercise of suffrage would be for Gov. Cox for President.

Mr. McCann stated that the policeman shot by Williams died from the result of injuries sustained in collision with a street car, instead of from the gunshot wound, as first reported.
